

THE FIGHT BEGINS

(Music: nangoo / DT - Lyrics: DT)

a) The Stranger

And in the end there is a sky
He is a stranger, takes you high
Shows heaven full of fantasy
Which seems to be in harmony

Without a stain - beyond all blame
And without cease he plays his game
He will deceive you, take good care
He lies in wait for you, anywhere

You wonder if it's true
It sounds so wonderful
But listen carefully
To what he claims to be

So don't believe him
He's a liar and cheater
He makes you blind
You don't even get to

Do you feel a light inside
Which will show you the right way?
And finally the fight begins:
"Should I go or should I stay?"

Take a look at the other side
And you will find a place to hide
But is it a haven, which you need?
A place of safety - No, indeed!

You always rail against your fate
Sitting on the fence of love and hate
You need no tender loving care
Resist temptation - You wouldn't dare

The fight has still begun
You're always on the run
This is the great danger
I return to the stranger

He bludgeons you
You'll never realize it
So misguiding
Incredibly zestful

You will find a way
Listen what I have to say
Scintilla Anima burns inside
It will bring you back to life

It will be your guide
So believe me and hold on tight
Scintilla Anima burns inside
Come back to life....

b) The Gate

The fight begins...

Enter through the narrow gate
For the gate is wide
And broad is the road
That leads to the dark side
The choice is yours
Do you feel...

"Confused...?!"

Feel the heat...

Gimme salvation...

Searching for my ease of mind
Where are dreams no illusions...

Bring me back to life..."

The fight begins
In your soul